Expertise and Compassion In Difficult Times

Each year, more than 120,000 couples divorce in England and Wales.

Even more cohabitating couples end their relationship.

If you're facing that difficult reality, our family law experts offer pragmatic advice with sensitivity and care.

And while we can't make separation or divorce a stress-free process, we can make it as painless as possible

Areas Of Practice

Experienced Guidance

Our experienced family law team will act on your behalf to get a fair financial outcome, as well as work to secure future arrangements for you and your children.

Using our unparalleled technical ability and determination, we'll help you through the process from start to finish.

And the complexity of your finances is not an issue: in fact we welcome situations or asset structures that are complicated and we've worked with business owners, high net worth individuals, trustees/beneficiaries, clients based in overseas jurisdictions and more, so we've got the expertise and experience to help you unpick or defend complex financial structures.

Divorce

After proving the grounds for divorce, it is typically no more than a six-month process to obtaining the Decree Absolute. We'll guide you through every step.

Relationship Breakdown

Not everyone is looking for divorce. For those seeking a different path, our experience and knowledge extends to separation, unmarried separation, and civil partnerships. We can also help with issues surrounding domestic abuse.

Financial Issues

Whether it's property in the UK or overseas, business assets, trusts, investments or savings, or pensions, we'll establish what financial claims you have and, using the most appropriate procedures for your situation, try to negotiate an agreement.

Children

We are highly experienced in dealing with a range of issues relating to children, from parental responsibility and financial claims to dealing with child arrangements, all with a sensitive and efficient approach.

Relationship Agreements

These increasingly popular arrangements help to preserve pre-existing or family wealth should a relationship break down, offering an open basis for couples to enjoy their life together. Ask our team for specialist advice on pre-nuptial, post-nuptial, cohabitation agreements and settlement Deeds.

Richard has extensive experience in all aspects of family law, Richard specialises in the financial consequences of relationship breakdown. He has also developed a particular niche for drafting and advising on pre and post nuptial agreements and cohabitation agreements.
